YALE UNIVERSITY

NCAA Rules & Regulations
Guidelines for Alumni and Friends of Yale Athletics

Q: Can boosters contact prospects to encourage them to attend Yale?
A: No. Any such contact could result in the prospect being declared ineligible to participate in Yale athletics.

Q: Is it permissible for a booster to earmark funds for a specific prospect to attend a camp at Yale?
A: No. However, boosters may donate funds to the high school, and the school and the students will decide which camps they attend.

Q: May a booster ask a student-athlete or entire team to endorse a commercial product?
A: No. A student-athlete may not be involved in the advertisement, recommendation, or promotion of commercial products and/or services because of the potential effect on his/her amateur status. However, there are certain instances when student-athletes may be involved with charitable, educational, and non-profit promotional activities. Please contact the Yale Compliance Office prior to soliciting student-athlete involvement in these activities.

Q: What happens if someone commits a violation?
A: All violations carry penalties. Student-Athletes may lose eligibility, be prohibited from competition, or be required to pay financial restitution. Coaches and staff may be reprimanded and prohibited from recruiting activities. Boosters may be subject to a loss of benefits and privileges, including the revocation of season tickets and, in severe cases, disassociation from the institution.
KEY DEFINITIONS

Representative of Athletics Interest (Booster)
You are a representative of Yale’s athletics interests, or a booster, under ANY of the following conditions:

• You are a member of any organization that promotes Yale athletics (e.g., sport associations).
• You have made financial contributions to Yale athletics.
• You have assisted or have been asked to assist in the recruitment of prospective student-athletes.
• You have provided benefits (e.g., summer jobs or occasional meals) to enrolled student-athletes or their families.
• You have promoted Yale athletics in any way.

ONCE A BOOSTER, ALWAYS A BOOSTER!

Prospective Student-Athlete (Prospect/Recruit)
A prospect is any individual that has started classes for the 9th grade. Individuals enrolled at preparatory schools or two-year colleges are also considered prospects. Individuals maintain prospect status until enrolled full-time at a four-year collegiate institution. In men’s basketball, a prospect is any individual that has started classes for the 7th grade.

Student-Athlete
A student-athlete is any individual enrolled in classes who participates in Yale’s athletics program. This includes both recruited individuals and walk-ons.

Extra Benefit
An extra benefit is any special arrangement by a Yale employee or booster to provide a student-athlete, or a student-athlete’s relatives or friends, a benefit not authorized by the NCAA, or not available to the general student body or a particular segment of the student body (e.g., international students), on a basis unrelated to athletics.

BOOSTERS AND PROSPECTS

Boosters MAY
• Notify or forward information to appropriate members of Yale’s coaching staff about a prospect in your area.
• Attend a prospect’s athletics contest as long as no contact is made with the prospect, his/her relatives or friends, or any other individual (e.g., coach, principal, or counselor) regarding the academic or athletics ability of the prospect.
• Accept telephone calls initiated by prospects that are not related to Yale athletics. All recruiting or athletics questions must be deferred to the appropriate Yale coaching staff.

Boosters MAY NOT
• Contact a prospect or his/her relatives or friends for recruiting purposes. This includes contact via telephone, mail, email, instant messenger, or fax. Also, face-to-face contact cannot be made on- or off-campus for the purpose of recruiting.
• Assist Yale’s coaching staff by picking up transcripts, films, or any other information from a prospect’s educational institution (i.e., evaluation activities). Provide benefits of any kind (e.g., clothing, special discounts, lodging, meals, transportation, loans, etc.) to a prospect or his/her relatives or friends.
• Contact a prospect to congratulate him/her on being accepted to Yale.
• Make contact with a prospect or his/her parents while on campus for an official or unofficial visit.
• Provide or arrange for transportation for a prospect or his/her relatives or friends to visit campus.
• Employ or arrange for employment of a prospect until the completion of his/her senior year in high school, graduation, or withdrawal from prep school/junior college. At that point, prospects may be employed, but compensation must be for work actually performed and at a rate commensurate with experience.

BOOSTERS AND STUDENT-ATHLETES

Boosters MAY
• Provide student-athletes with occasional meals. These meals may be catered, but must take place at the booster’s home or in an on-campus facility that is regularly used for competition. All meals must be approved by the compliance office.
• Employ or arrange for employment of a student-athlete during the academic year or summer, provided:
  • Compensation is only for work actually performed;
  • Compensation is paid at a rate commensurate with the going rate for similar services in that locale;
  • Compensation is in no way related to the student-athlete’s value or utility due to the publicity, reputation, fame, or personal following obtained because of athletics ability; and
  • All employment activities must be reported to the Yale Compliance Office.

Boosters MAY NOT
• Pay or arrange for payment of room, board, or transportation at any time for currently enrolled student-athletes, their relatives, or friends.
• Provide a student-athlete or his/her relatives or friends with any type of extra benefit, or any benefit not available to the general student body.
• Provide special discounts (e.g., free or reduced meals/housing), payment arrangements (e.g., cosigning a loan), credits on a purchase (e.g., frequent flyer miles), or services (e.g., transportation, use of telephone) to student-athletes, their relatives, or friends.
• Provide awards or gifts to student-athletes for any reason, including honorariums for speaking engagements.
• Entertain student-athletes or their family or friends.
Key Definitions

Representative of Athletics Interest (Booster)
You are a representative of Yale’s athletics interests, or a booster, under any of the following conditions:

- You are a member of any organization that promotes Yale athletics (e.g., sport associations).
- You have made financial contributions to Yale athletics.
- You have assisted or have been asked to assist in the recruitment of prospective student-athletes.
- You have provided benefits (e.g., summer jobs or occasional meals) to enrolled student-athletes or their families.
- You have promoted Yale athletics in any way.

Prospective Student-Athlete (Prospect/Recruit)
A prospect is any individual that has started classes for the 9th grade. Individuals enrolled at preparatory schools or two-year colleges are also considered prospects. Individuals maintain prospect status until enrolled full-time at a four-year collegiate institution. In men’s basketball, a prospect is any individual that has started classes for the 7th grade.

Student-Athlete
A student-athlete is any individual enrolled in classes who participates in Yale’s athletics program. This includes both recruited individuals and walk-ons.

Extra Benefit
An extra benefit is any special arrangement by a Yale employee or booster to provide a student-athlete, or a student-athlete’s relatives or friends, a benefit not authorized by the NCAA, or not available to the general student body or a particular segment of the student body (e.g., international students), on a basis unrelated to athletics.

Boosters and Prospects

Boosters MAY
- Notify or forward information to appropriate members of Yale’s coaching staff about a prospect in your area.
- Attend a prospect’s athletics contest as long as no contact is made with the prospect, his/her relatives or friends, or any other individual (e.g., coach, principal, or counselor) regarding the academic or athletics ability of the prospect.
- Accept telephone calls initiated by prospects that are not related to Yale athletics. All recruiting or athletics questions must be deferred to the appropriate Yale coaching staff.

Boosters MAY NOT
- Contact a prospect or his/her relatives or friends for recruiting purposes. This includes contact via telephone, mail, email, instant messenger, or fax. Also, face-to-face contact cannot be made on- or off-campus for the purpose of recruiting.
- Assist Yale’s coaching staff by picking up transcripts, films, or any other information from a prospect’s educational institution (i.e., evaluation activities). Provide benefits of any kind (e.g., clothing, special discounts, lodging, meals, transportation, loans, etc.) to a prospect or his/her relatives or friends.
- Contact a prospect to congratulate him/her on being accepted to Yale.
- Make contact with a prospect or his/her parents while on campus for an official or unofficial visit.
- Provide or arrange for transportation for a prospect or his/her relatives or friends to visit campus.
- Employ or arrange for employment of a prospect until the completion of his/her senior year in high school, graduation, or withdrawal from prep school/junior college. At that point, prospects may be employed, but compensation must be for work actually performed and at a rate commensurate with experience.

Boosters and Student-Athletes

Boosters MAY
- Provide student-athletes with occasional meals. These meals may be catered, but must take place at the booster’s home or in an on-campus facility that is regularly used for competition. All meals must be approved by the compliance office.
- Employ or arrange for employment of a student-athlete during the academic year or summer, provided:
  - Compensation is only for work actually performed;
  - Compensation is paid at a rate commensurate with the going rate for similar services in that locale;
  - Compensation is in no way related to the student-athlete’s value or utility due to the publicity, reputation, fame, or personal following obtained because of athletics ability; and
  - All employment activities must be reported to the Yale Compliance Office.

Boosters MAY NOT
- Pay or arrange for payment of room, board, or transportation at any time for currently enrolled student-athletes, their relatives, or friends.
- Provide a student-athlete or his/her relatives or friends with any type of extra benefit, or any benefit not available to the general student body.
- Provide special discounts (e.g., free or reduced meals/housing), payment arrangements (e.g., cosigning a loan), credits on a purchase (e.g., frequent flyer miles), or services (e.g., transportation, use of telephone) to student-athletes, their relatives, or friends.
- Provide awards or gifts to student-athletes for any reason, including honorariums for speaking engagements.
- Entertain student-athletes or their family or friends.
KEY DEFINITIONS

Representative of Athletics Interest (Booster)
You are a representative of Yale’s athletics interests, or a booster, under ANY of the following conditions:

- You are a member of any organization that promotes Yale athletics (e.g., sport associations).
- You have made financial contributions to Yale athletics.
- You have assisted or have been asked to assist in the recruitment of prospective student-athletes.
- You have provided benefits (e.g., summer jobs or occasional meals) to enrolled student-athletes or their families.
- You have promoted Yale athletics in any way.

ONCE A BOOSTER, ALWAYS A BOOSTER!

Prospective Student-Athlete (Prospect/Recruit)
A prospect is any individual that has started classes for the 9th grade. Individuals enrolled at preparatory schools or two-year colleges are also considered prospects. Individuals maintain prospect status until enrolled full-time at a four-year collegiate institution. In men’s basketball, a prospect is any individual that has started classes for the 7th grade.

Student-Athlete
A student-athlete is any individual enrolled in classes who participates in Yale’s athletics program. This includes both recruited individuals and walk-ons.

Extra Benefit
An extra benefit is any special arrangement by a Yale employee or booster to provide a student-athlete, or a student-athlete’s relatives or friends, a benefit not authorized by the NCAA, or not available to the general student body or a particular segment of the student body (e.g., international students), on a basis unrelated to athletics.

BOOSTERS AND PROSPECTS

Boosters MAY
- Notify or forward information to appropriate members of Yale’s coaching staff about a prospect in your area.
- Attend a prospect’s athletics contest as long as no contact is made with the prospect, his/her relatives or friends, or any other individual (e.g., coach, principal, or counselor) regarding the academic or athletics ability of the prospect.
- Accept telephone calls initiated by prospects that are not related to Yale athletics. All recruiting or athletics questions must be deferred to the appropriate Yale coaching staff.

Boosters MAY NOT
- Contact a prospect or his/her relatives or friends for recruiting purposes. This includes contact via telephone, mail, email, instant messenger, or fax. Also, face-to-face contact cannot be made on- or off-campus for the purpose of recruiting.
- Assist Yale’s coaching staff by picking up transcripts, films, or any other information from a prospect’s educational institution (i.e., evaluation activities). Provide benefits of any kind (e.g., clothing, special discounts, lodging, meals, transportation, loans, etc.) to a prospect or his/her relatives or friends.
- Contact a prospect to congratulate him/her on being accepted to Yale.
- Make contact with a prospect or his/her parents while on campus for an official or unofficial visit.
- Provide or arrange for transportation for a prospect or his/her relatives or friends to visit campus.
- Employ or arrange for employment of a prospect until the completion of his/her senior year in high school, graduation, or withdrawal from prep school/junior college. At that point, prospects may be employed, but compensation must be for work actually performed and at a rate commensurate with experience.

BOOSTERS AND STUDENT-ATHLETES

Boosters MAY
- Provide student-athletes with occasional meals. These meals may be catered, but must take place at the booster’s home or in an on-campus facility that is regularly used for competition. All meals must be approved by the compliance office.
- Employ or arrange for employment of a student-athlete during the academic year or summer, provided:
  - Compensation is only for work actually performed;
  - Compensation is paid at a rate commensurate with the going rate for similar services in that locale;
  - Compensation is in no way related to the student-athlete’s value or utility due to the publicity, reputation, fame, or personal following obtained because of athletics ability; and
  - All employment activities must be reported to the Yale Compliance Office.

Boosters MAY NOT
- Pay or arrange for payment of room, board, or transportation at any time for currently enrolled student-athletes, their relatives, or friends.
- Provide a student-athlete or his/her relatives or friends with any type of extra benefit, or any benefit not available to the general student body.
- Provide special discounts (e.g., free or reduced meals/housing), payment arrangements (e.g., cosigning a loan), credits on a purchase (e.g., frequent flyer miles), or services (e.g., transportation, use of telephone) to student-athletes, their relatives, or friends.
- Provide awards or gifts to student-athletes for any reason, including honorariums for speaking engagements.
- Entertain student-athletes or their family or friends.
FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Q: Can boosters contact prospects to encourage them to attend Yale?

A: No. Any such contact could result in the prospect being declared ineligible to participate in Yale athletics.

Q: Is it permissible for a booster to earmark funds for a specific prospect to attend a camp at Yale?

A: No. However, boosters may donate funds to the high school, and the school and the students will decide which camps they attend.

Q: May a booster ask a student-athlete or entire team to endorse a commercial product?

A: No. A student-athlete may not be involved in the advertisement, recommendation, or promotion of commercial products and/or services because of the potential effect on his/her amateur status. However, there are certain instances when student-athletes may be involved with charitable, educational, and non-profit promotional activities. Please contact the Yale Compliance Office prior to soliciting student-athlete involvement in these activities.

Q: What happens if someone commits a violation?

A: All violations carry penalties. Student-Athletes may lose eligibility, be prohibited from competition, or be required to pay financial restitution. Coaches and staff may be reprimanded and prohibited from recruiting activities. Boosters may be subject to a loss of benefits and privileges, including the revocation of season tickets and, in severe cases, disassociation from the institution.

---

COMMITMENT TO COMPLIANCE

All members of the Yale athletics family are responsible for promoting and maintaining athletics compliance, including the administration, coaches, student-athletes, and boosters. Awareness of and adherence to NCAA regulations are essential to Yale’s athletics success. However, despite all efforts, violations may occur. Under NCAA regulations, Yale is responsible for the actions of its boosters. We encourage you to contact the Compliance Office should you have any questions about or knowledge of a potential rules violation. Providing information about any potential violations is the best way to protect Yale and our current student-athletes, as well as to safeguard against future problems. Your support in our compliance efforts is greatly appreciated.

Yale University’s commitment to excellence extends beyond the classroom into all endeavors, including athletics, that contribute to a rich and broad liberal education. As a proud member of the Ivy League, the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference (ECAC), and the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA), the Yale University Department of Athletics aims to further this mission by creating and sustaining an athletics program consistent with the values and in compliance with the rules and regulations set forth by the University and these governing bodies.
FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Q: Can boosters contact prospects to encourage them to attend Yale?
A: No. Any such contact could result in the prospect being declared ineligible to participate in Yale athletics.

Q: Is it permissible for a booster to earmark funds for a specific prospect to attend a camp at Yale?
A: No. However, boosters may donate funds to the high school, and the school and the students will decide which camps they attend.

Q: May a booster ask a student-athlete or entire team to endorse a commercial product?
A: No. A student-athlete may not be involved in the advertisement, recommendation, or promotion of commercial products and/or services because of the potential effect on his/her amateur status. However, there are certain instances when student-athletes may be involved with charitable, educational, and non-profit promotional activities. Please contact the Yale Compliance Office prior to soliciting student-athlete involvement in these activities.

Q: What happens if someone commits a violation?
A: All violations carry penalties. Student-Athletes may lose eligibility, be prohibited from competition, or be required to pay financial restitution. Coaches and staff may be reprimanded and prohibited from recruiting activities. Boosters may be subject to a loss of benefits and privileges, including the revocation of season tickets and, in severe cases, disassociation from the institution.

YALE UNIVERSITY

COMMITMENT TO COMPLIANCE

All members of the Yale athletics family are responsible for promoting and maintaining athletics compliance, including the administration, coaches, student-athletes, and boosters. Awareness of and adherence to NCAA regulations are essential to Yale’s athletics success. However, despite all efforts, violations may occur. Under NCAA regulations, Yale is responsible for the actions of its boosters. We encourage you to contact the Compliance Office should you have any questions about or knowledge of a potential rules violation. Providing information about any potential violations is the best way to protect Yale and our current student-athletes, as well as to safeguard against future problems. Your support in our compliance efforts is greatly appreciated.

Yale University’s commitment to excellence extends beyond the classroom into all endeavors, including athletics, that contribute to a rich and broad liberal education. As a proud member of the Ivy League, the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference (ECAC), and the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA), the Yale University Department of Athletics aims to further this mission by creating and sustaining an athletics program consistent with the values and in compliance with the rules and regulations set forth by the University and these governing bodies.

Yale University Athletics Compliance Office
PO BOX 208216
New Haven, CT 06520
(203) 436-8309
www.yalebulldogs.com

NCAA Rules & Regulations
Guidelines for Alumni and Friends of Yale Athletics