Milestones & What to Watch For

- Junior guard Bridgette Mann has a career free throw percentage of 82.7 (148-for-179), which would rank fourth all-time in Scranton history once she meets the qualification of 225 attempts.

- Mann’s 148 career 3-pointers rank tied for sixth in Lady Royals’ history with Jamie Elbacher (1997-2001). Mann needs three to pass Lia DiSciascio to move into fifth place.

For her career, Mann has made 38.4 percent of her 3-point attempts (148-for-385). That percentage ranks second in Lady Royals’ history, trailing only Anne Gooley’s 48.0 percent from 1989-93.

- Senior center Katie Feehery and sophomore center Sofia Recupero have dominated on the glass this season, combining for 146 rebounds in 560 minutes over 14 games. That works out to a combined 20.9 rebounds per 40 minutes.

Last Time Out
- Scranton won its eighth straight game by defeating Susquehanna, 49-43, on the road on Wednesday night. Scranton shot just 36.5 percent (19-for-52) but held Susquehanna even lower at 32.7... percent (16-for-49). Sofia Recupero led the Lady Royals with 12 points and nine rebounds, and Katie Feehery and Bridgette Mann both had 10 points.

Coming Up Next

- The Lady Royals will remain home for next Wednesday's game when they host Moravian in the Long Center at 7 p.m. On Saturday, Jan. 20, they will travel to Washington, D.C. to face Catholic at 4 p.m.

Royals News & Notes

- This is the 43rd season of women's basketball at The University of Scranton. The Lady Royals are 1,013-224 all-time (.819) with nine trips to the NCAA Final Four, including a national championship in 1985.

- The Lady Royals return three starters from last year's squad — guards Bridgette Mann, Katie Broderick and Emily Sheehan. The trio combined for 20.8 points per game while making 97 of 276 3-point attempts (35.1 percent).

- Scranton has won 81 of its last 87 regular season games dating back to the start of the 2014-15 season, as well as 35 of their last 39 in Landmark Conference play. The Lady Royals have also won 33 of their last 37 games in both the regular and postseason inside the John Long Center.

- The Lady Royals continue to lead the Landmark Conference in field goal percentage by a wide margin. They are hitting 45.7 percent from the field, which is also 10th-best in all of NCAA Division III. Drew is second at 43.3. Scranton's 39.6 percent from 3-point range also leads the conference and ranks fourth in the nation.

- Sophomore forward Makenzie Mason has been a boost in all aspects of the game. She is the team’s third-leading scorer at 8.6 points per game, leads the squad in rebounding at 6.5 and is second in assists at 3.2. She is also second on the team with eight blocks and third with 10 steals. Her assist-to-turnover ratio of 2.05 leads the conference and ranks fourth in the nation.

- Scranton has dominated its opponents on the glass this season with a rebounding margin of plus-9.0 over the first 12 games. That's second-best in the conference and 34th in the country.

- While the Lady Royals have played only four games decided by fewer than 10 points (3-1 in those games), head coach Trevor Woodruff has to like his team’s chances when leading late in a close game. That's because the Lady Royals are shooting 75.9 percent from the free throw line, which leads the conference and ranks 12th in the country. The team's primary ball handlers are all strong at the line — Bridgette Mann (83.3 percent), Katie Broderick (85.7), Emily Sheehan (82.8) and Makenzie Mason (88.0).

Goucher News & Notes

- Goucher remains winless this season and is coming off a 73-42 home loss to Juniata on Wednesday, Jan. 10. The Gophers scored just 17 first-half points and shot just 33.3 percent (17-for-51) from the field. Nicole Wolard had a double-double with 15 points and 13 rebounds, and Kerry Chun added 10 points and seven rebounds.

- The Gophers have struggled with depth this season. They have just nine players on the active roster entering Saturday's game, and seven played against Juniata on Wednesday and only six in a loss to Drew on Saturday, Jan. 10.

- The Gophers are averaging just 36.3 points per game, the second-lowest average in NCAA Division III, junior Nicole Wolard is having a solid season. She leads the Gophers and is fifth in the conference in scoring at 12.5 points per game, and she leads the Landmark with 8.6 rebounds per game.

- Goucher leads the nation in fewest fouls per game at just 10.2. As a result, opponents have attempted just 120 free throws in 13 games, an average of 9.2.
