2012-13 Yale Bulldogs Women’s Basketball

Celebrating 40 Seasons of Women’s Basketball at Yale University

Game Notes

GAME #15

Yale Bulldogs (5-9, 0-0 Ivy League)

vs. Brown Bears (6-8, 0-0 Ivy League)

January 19, 2013 • 4 p.m.

John J. Lee Amphitheater (2,532) • New Haven, Conn.

Opening Tip: After recording the most Ivy League wins in a two-year span (18; 10-4 in 2010-11, 8-6 in 2011-12) in the program’s history, Yale begins its quest for its first Ivy League championship since 1979 with the home portion of home-and-home set with Brown. In Brown, Yale is facing the second-toughest defense in the Ivy League. The Bears allow just 57.9 points per game. Yale is hoping to avenge last year’s home loss after Brown escaped with a 60-55 win to split the series. Yale is led by sophomore guard Sarah Halejian, the team leader in scoring (13.4 points per game) and assists (3.4 assists per game). Junior guard Janna Graf is second on the team in scoring (12.2 ppg.) and rebounding (5.0 rpg.). She is also the Ivy League leader in made 3-pointers per game (2.4).

Game 15 vs. Brown Bears

Saturday, January 19, 2013 at John J. Lee Amphitheater
Yale finished as high as fourth place in the Ivy League since 2001-02. The 2009-10 campaign with an 8-6 record in Ivy League play, the best conference record since the 2001-02 season. It was the second time that Yale finished the season first in the Ivy League standings for the first time since 1988-89, clinching the Ivy League's automatic berth in the WNIT.

The Bulldogs enjoyed their most successful season under Gobrecht's leadership in 2011-12, finishing with a 16-12 record and an 8-6 mark in Ivy League play in a season that included Yale's first-ever meeting with the nation's top-ranked team (No. 1 Baylor, Nov. 22, 2011). It was their winningest season since a 16-10 finish in 1993-94 and the third straight season with at least eight Ivy League victories. The season included several milestones, including Gobrecht's 500th career victory and the 1,000th career point for Vasquez, both of which happened on Dec. 4, 2012, and is 24 wins away from Cecelia DeMarco, Yale's all-time winningest head coach (107-127).

“I believe Yale is one of the finest institutions in the world, and to be involved with this university is a privilege,” Gobrecht said upon her arrival in New Haven. “I think my career has been leading up to this.”

During her tenure at Yale, Gobrecht has coached 23 players that earned Ivy League postseason awards, including two Ivy League Rookies of the Year (Sarah Halejian, 2011-12; Melissa Colborne, 2006-07), four All-Ivy First Team honorees (Megan Vasquez, 2011-12 & 2010-11; Colborne, 2007-08; Erica Davis, 2006-07), three All-Ivy Second Team honorees (Colborne, 08-09; Michelle Cashen, 09-10, Mady Gobrecht, 10-11), four All-Ivy Honorable Mention players (Chinenye Okafor, 05-06 & 06-07; Cashen, 10-11 & 11-12), five All-Ivy Rookie Team players (Janna Graf, 10-11; Vasquez, 09-10; Cashen, 08-09; Lindsay Williams, 07-08; Colborne 06-07) and six Ivy League Academic Team honorees (Cashen, 11-12; Cashen, 10-11; Haywood Wright, 09-10; Jamie Van Horne, 08-09; Stephanie Marciano, 07-08; Davis, 06-07). Prior to Gobrecht’s arrival in the Elm City, a Bulldog player had not earned first team All-Ivy accolades since Katry Grubbs following the 1997-98 campaign.

Gobrecht has coached two players who competed on the international level in senior Megan Vasquez, who played for Puerto Rico during its quest to qualify for the 2012 Olympics, and junior Janna Graf, who helped lead Germany’s U-20 squad to a second-place finish in the 2012 European Championships. Gobrecht’s tenure also included Yale’s 15th, 16th and 17th 1,000-point scorers in the program’s history in Vasquez, Davis and Colborne.

The Bulldogs enjoyed their most successful season under Gobrecht’s leadership in 2011-12, finishing with a 16-12 record and an 8-6 mark in Ivy League play in a season that included Yale’s first-ever meeting with the nation’s top-ranked team (No. 1 Baylor, Nov. 22, 2011). It was their winningest season since a 16-10 finish in 1993-94 and the third straight season with at least eight Ivy League victories. The season included several milestones, including Gobrecht’s 500th career victory and the 1,000th career point for Vasquez, both of which happened on Feb. 10, 2012, against Cornell. Gobrecht also saw Halejian win six Ivy League Rookie of the Week awards during the season, tying a Yale record held by Melissa Colborne (2007) and Katy Grubbs (1996) for the most Rookie of the Week awards by a Yale player in a single season.

In 2010-11, Gobrecht guided the Bulldogs to their first-ever appearance in the Women's National Invitational Tournament (WNIT) to cap off a successful season. The Bulldogs finished with a 14-15 overall record, which, until 2011-12, was Yale's highest win total since the 2001-02 season (14-13). Gobrecht coached the Bulldogs to the biggest win in program history, a 91-85 win over then-No. 14 Florida State. It was Yale’s first win over a nationally ranked opponent in the program’s 38-year history. She followed that historic victory by guiding the Bulldogs to a 10-4 finish in Ivy League play, which matched the most wins for Yale in Ivy League play (10-4, 1988-89). The 2010-11 Ivy League season included Yale’s first sweep of Harvard since the 1993-94 season, which helped the Bulldogs finish in second place in the Ivy League standings for the first time since 1988-89, clinching the Ivy League’s automatic berth in the WNIT.

In 2009-10, Gobrecht guided the Bulldogs to a 13-15 finish, the highest win total since the 14 victories in the 2001-02 season. Yale closed the 2009-10 campaign with an 8-6 record in Ivy League play, the best conference record since the 2001-02 season. It was the second time that Yale finished as high as fourth place in the Ivy League since 2001-02.
After posting a 3-24 mark in her first season with the Bulldogs, Coach Gobrecht led the team to 12 wins in the 2006-07. The nine-win improvement was one of the best in Division I that season. The 2006-07 season was highlighted by a six-game winning streak and a 15-point victory over a Marist squad that would reach the Regional Semifinals (Sweet 16) of the NCAA Tournament. Yale was also the only Ivy League team to defeat league champion Harvard. In 2007-08, Gobrecht led the Bulldogs to a 7-7 record and fourth-place finish in the Ivy League.

Though the 2008-09 Bulldog squad was hampered by a multitude of injuries, Gobrecht led her team to an 11-17 record, the team’s second-highest win total in the past seven seasons. 2008-09 also featured a landmark victory for the program over North Carolina State, Yale’s first win over an Atlantic Coast Conference opponent.

After turning around the Cal State Fullerton program, Gobrecht moved on to the University of Washington. In 11 years, her teams went to the NCAA Tournament on nine occasions. The Huskies reached the NCAA Regional Semifinals four times during her tenure, and advanced to the Regional Finals (Elite Eight) in 1990. She won at least 16 games every year at Washington, including eight 20-win campaigns (six consecutive), and is the Huskies’ all-time winningest coach with 243 victories. Washington won three conference championships and finished second four times during her tenure. A two-time Pac-10 Coach of the Year, Gobrecht led Washington to a school-record 28 wins and a number-three national ranking in 1989-90. The Huskies were the only team to beat eventual NCAA Champion Stanford that season.

“My observation of Chris goes back to my days in the Pac-10 when I saw how well she developed the program at the University of Washington,” said Yale Athletic Director Tom Beckett. “She did a great job with the Huskies, and now she’s a Bulldog. We think it’s an absolutely perfect connection, and it’s definitely the right move for us.”

After 11 years at Washington, Gobrecht took over a struggling Florida State program in 1996. The Seminoles went 5-22 in Gobrecht’s only season before she left Tallahassee to take over at her alma mater, Southern California.

With USC’s win over Pepperdine on Dec. 4, 2002, Gobrecht became the 33rd active coach to reach the 400-win mark. In seven seasons with the Women of Troy, Gobrecht posted a 95-108 record. USC posted three winning seasons during her tenure, including a 15-13 mark in her final year, 2003-04. Two of her recruiting classes were ranked among the best in the country, and her teams regularly faced some of the best competition in the nation, including Pac-10 rival Stanford. In 2002-03 alone, the Women of Troy faced three of the previous four national champions: Connecticut, Tennessee and Notre Dame.

Gobrecht began her Division I coaching career with a struggling Cal State Fullerton program in 1979-80. She coached the Titans for six seasons, posting an 84-82 record. She led Cal State Fullerton to an 18-12 record in her third season on the job. In the 1984-85 season, the Titans posted a 19-11 record and made their first appearance in the WNIT, making her a finalist for national Coach of the Year honors.

She served as an assistant for a USA Basketball select team that played in Czechoslovakia and Italy in 1990. In addition, six of Gobrecht’s former players have played professionally in the WNBA and ABL.

Her coaching career began in 1978 at Santa Fe Springs (Calif.) High School, where her team went 20-4 and made the CIF AAA playoffs. The next year, Gobrecht led Pasadena City College to a 25-5 record, a conference championship and second place in the state junior college tournament.

A Toledo, Ohio native and a graduate of Huntington Beach (Calif.) High School, Gobrecht earned a bachelor’s degree in public affairs from USC in 1977. Then known by her maiden name of Chris Geiger, she was a three-year starter for the Women of Troy from 1974-76 and also played two seasons of volleyball at USC. After graduation, she spent a year volunteering in the Peace Corps, where she worked as an English teacher at St. Mary’s College in Apia, Western Samoa.

She and her husband, Bob, the President and Managing Director of Special Olympics North America, have two children, Eric, 26, and Madeline, 23. Eric is a graduate of the U.S. Air Force Academy and a recent graduate of the Air Force’s flight school. He is a C-5M pilot stationed in Dover, Del. In October 2011, Eric married Catherine Cheney, a 2010 graduate of Yale. Mady graduated from Yale in 2011 after four standout seasons on the women’s basketball team. She is currently a learning specialist and the head coach of the varsity girls basketball team at Episcopal High School in Alexandria, Va., as well as an assistant coach for the volleyball and softball teams.

Scouting Brown

Brown started its season with just two wins in its first seven games, but appeared to find its way with three wins in four games, including wins over common opponents New Hampshire (50-43) and Army (48-45). However, after beating Army, Brown dropped losses at Lafayette (56-32) and Holy Cross (83-66) before closing out non-league play with a buzzer-beating 53-51 win over NJIT on Jan. 15. The Bears lost junior starting guard Lindsay Nickel to an left knee injury in the loss at Holy Cross and did not play in the win over NJIT. Brown is averaging just 52.2 points per game. However, the key to Brown's success is the play of its defense, which has held opponents to just 57.9 points per game, which is ranked second in the Ivy League. Brown is also second in the league in Field Goal Defense (35.8 percent) and 3-Point Field Goal Defense (25.6 percent). Brown is led by junior guard Lauren Clarke, who is averaging a team-high 13.8 points per game. Senior guard Sheila Dixon is second on the team in scoring (11.9 ppg.) and the team leader in rebounding (5.0 rpg.). However, no other Brown player is averaging more than 6.8 points per game.

Series History

The series with Brown dates back to Yale's first season as a varsity program in 1973-74. This is the 75th meeting in the all-time series between Brown and Yale. Brown leads the series 42-32. Yale has held the upper hand of late, winning four of the last five meetings. However, the last time Brown paid a visit to Yale, it left New Haven with a 60-55 victory in the second game of home-and-away series last season. That win by Brown snapped Yale's four-game winning streak over the Bears that included a sweep of the home series last season. That win by Brown snapped Yale's four-meetings. That win by Brown snapped Yale's four-game winning streak over the Bears that included a sweep of the home series last season.

2011-12 Series

During non-league play, Yale was 0-5 when trailing at halftime, but that trend failed to hold true in the Ivy League opener when Yale trailed 32-31 at the half but outscored Brown 44-33 in the second half to pull away with a 75-65 win on Jan. 13, 2012. Yale used a game-high 23 points from Megan Vasquez and career nights from Sarah Halejian and Amanda Tyson to pull out the win. Halejian scored a career-high 18 points in the victory, while Tyson came off the bench to record 10 of her 12 points and seven of her game-high eight rebounds in the second half to help lift Yale. Sheila Dixon scored 20 points in the loss. In the rematch on Jan. 20, Lauren Clarke scored a game-high 15 points to lead Brown to a 60-55 win at Yale. It was Brown's first win at Yale since Jan. 16, 2009. Vasquez scored 14 points for Yale in the loss.

Connecticut Connection

There are two connections to the Nutmeg State on the Brown roster. Sophomore guard Katie Mahoney, from Colchester, graduated from Bacon Academy as the all-time scoring leader with 1,746 points. Brown assistant coach Jonathan Parsons, now in his fourth year with the Bears, also has strong ties to Connecticut. The 2008 graduate of Sacred Heart was a four-year student manager for the men's basketball team. He then served as a volunteer assistant coach at the University of New Haven for a year prior to joining the staff at Brown. He also was an assistant coach for the Connecticut Breeze U-16 AAU program.

Double Trouble

Junior guard Lauren Clarke, Brown's leading scorer with 13.8 points per game, has scored in double figures in 12 of Brown's 14 games this season, including a season-high 20 points in three of Brown's first five games of the season. She has recorded at least two 3-pointers in all but two of Brown's games.
Yale Takes Battle of the Bulldogs

Yale met Bryant for the first time since the 2009-10 season and returned from the Smithfield, R.I., campus with a 78-65 win to finish the non-league portion of the schedule with a 5-9 record. Amanda Tyson led Yale with a career-high 16 points in the win. Sarah Halejian scored 15 points and tallied five assists and three steals. Megan Vasquez, making her first start of the season, recorded 12 points, seven rebounds, and five assists, while Janna Graf had 12 points and five rebounds. Naana Ankomah-Mensa led all scorers with 22 points and 13 rebound. Halejian scored 12 of her 15 points in the first half, helping Yale to a 31-19 halftime lead. Yale improved to 4-0 when leading at halftime and 4-0 when shooting a better percentage from the floor than the opposing team.

Bulldog Trends

- Yale’s leading scorer, Sarah Halejian, has scored in double figures in 13 of Yale’s 14 games. In her only single-digit game, she scored nine points against Sacred Heart. ... Halejian has averaged 13.5 points and 5.3 assists per game in the last four games. ... She has at least one made 3-point field goal in five of the last six games and in 12 of Yale’s 14 games. ... She has made six or more field goals in five of the last seven games.
- Freshman forward Meredith Boardman, Yale’s leading rebounder (5.1 rpg.) has averaged 5.4 rebounds in the last six games, including a season-high nine rebounds against Fordham on Dec. 4.
- Senior captain Allie Messimer has scored at least eight points with two made 3-pointers in the last three games.
- Yale’s center, junior Zenab Keita, has recorded three of her seven 3-pointers in the last two games, with two at Bryant.
- Yale’s second-leading scorer and rebounder, Janna Graf, has averaged 14.9 ppg. in her last seven starts, scoring at least 14 points in five of the last seven games and a season-high 18 points in three of those six games ... Graf leads the Ivy League with 2.4 made 3-pointers per game. She has averaged 3.2 made 3-pointers in her last six games. She has at least one made 3-pointer in all 14 games. ... Graf has averaged 5.0 made field goals in her last seven games.

Celebrating History

The 2012-13 season marks the 40th season of women’s basketball at Yale University. In 1972-73, women’s basketball appeared on the Yale scene as a club sport and became a varsity sport the following year. The Bulldogs made an impressive Ivy debut, finishing second in the League in 1974-75. In 1976, Louise O’Neal was hired as the first full-time women’s basketball coach and Yale won its first Ivy League championship in 1978-79. The Bulldogs have won 441 games since their debut. A total of nine men and women have coached women’s basketball at Yale, and there have been 35 women who have been named captain in those 40 seasons. In its 40 seasons, the women’s basketball team has seen one player win Ivy League Player of the Year award (Tonya Lawrence, 1988-89), four Ivy League Rookies of the Year (Sarah Halejian, 2011-12; Melissa Colborne, 2006-07; Katy Grubbs, 1995-96; Mary Kalich, 1991-92), 18 players on the All-Ivy League First Team, and 17 players score more than 1,000 career points. Throughout the season, Yale will be celebrating the program’s historic achievement.

2012-13 Game Notes

From Way Downtown
Yale's 3-point shooting prowess is among the best in the nation, according to the NCAA. The NCAA released its latest statistical rankings on Jan. 18, and Yale is ranked No. 9 among the nation’s 343 Division I schools in 3-pointers made per game with 8.4 3-pointers per game. Yale is No. 22 in the nation in 3-point shooting percentage (35.9 percent). On the defensive end, Yale's 3-point shooting defense was ranked No. 22 in the country. The Bulldogs are holding teams to just 25.6 percent.

Quest for Ivy Glory Begins
The quest for the Ivy League championship is now under way as Princeton and Harvard dominated in their respective Ivy League openers on Jan. 12 to tip off the double round-robin schedule. As the only Division I conference without a postseason tournament, the Ivy League’s 14-game conference slate becomes the “tournament” to determine which Ivy team wins the title and earns an automatic bid in the NCAA Tournament. The team that finishes the season in second place earns the Ivy League’s automatic bid to the Women’s National Invitational Tournament. Yale earned its first-ever WNT bid in 2011 after finishing a program-best 10-4 in league play. The Bulldogs begin Ivy League play at Brown on Friday. Princeton is the three-time defending Ivy League champion. Yale is pursuing its first Ivy League championship since the 1978-79 season, when the league champion was determined in a mid-season tournament.

A Grand Win over the Bison
In the 1,000th game in Yale’s 40-year history, Yale cruised to an 82-62 win over Bucknell on Jan. 5. It was Yale’s fourth straight win over Bucknell. The Bulldogs forced 26 Bucknell turnovers and used those miscues to score 36 points on the offensive end. Four players scored in double figures, led by Megan Vasquez, who scored 16 points on 7-of-14 shooting. Sarah Halejian scored 15 points, while Janna Graf and Zenab Keita each added 14 points. Yale shot 31-for-61 (50.8 percent), which was its best shooting performance of the season.

Gobrecht Climbing the Yale Ranks
Yale’s 67-53 win over Fordham on Dec. 4 improved the Bulldogs’ overall record to 2-4 on the season, but the victory also gave Chris Gobrecht her 80th victory as Yale’s head coach, moving her past Diann Nestel (79-78) and into sole possession of second place on Yale’s all-time coaching victories list. After the win over Bucknell on Jan. 5, Gobrecht now has 82 wins and is now 25 wins behind Cecelia DeMarco (107-127), Yale’s all-time winningest head coach.

Historic Victory
Janna Graf picked a great time to play her best game of the season to date. The junior guard set a new season-high with 18 points on 5-of-7 shooting to lead Yale to a 67-53 win over Fordham on Dec. 4. Graf also had six rebounds and five steals. It was Yale’s first win over Fordham since a 92-74 win in New Haven on Dec. 9, 1986. Fordham had won the previous six meetings with Yale. The Bulldogs dominated for the final 26:44 of the game. Yale outscored Fordham 17-8 over the final 6:44 of the first half to take a 31-29 halftime lead, with nine of those points coming from Graf. Yale then used a 17-5 run late in the second half to open up an 18-point lead (65-47) to put the game out of reach. Yale shot 25-for-50 from the floor (50.0 percent), 7-for-14 from behind the arc (50.0 percent) and 10-for-11 from the foul line to secure the victory.

The Last Time a Bulldog ...

Scoring Points

- Yale has scored at least 75 points five times this season and is 3-2 in those games, with wins over Houston (84-82), Bucknell (82-62) and Bryant (78-65) and losses at DePaul (95-80) and at Northwestern (83-75). Yale scored at least 75 points on seven occasions in 2011-12, all victories (vs. Holy Cross, at FDU, at Houston, vs. Baruch, at Brown, at Dartmouth, vs. Cornell). In 2010-11, Yale scored 75 points only three times, all in victories (vs. Florida State, vs. Harvard, at Harvard).
- In the NCAA’s Jan. 17 statistics update, Yale is ranked No. 9 among the nation’s 343 Division I schools with 8.4 3-pointers made per game.
- Yale is No. 22 in the nation in 3-point shooting percentage (35.9 percent).
- Yale is No. 47 in the nation in free-throw shooting percentage (73.5 percent).
- On the defensive end, Yale’s 3-point shooting defense is ranked No. 22 in the country. The Bulldogs are holding teams to just 25.6 percent.
- Junior guard Janna Graf is No. 19 in the nation in 3-point shooting percentage (43.4 percent) and No. 66 in 3-pointers made per game (2.4).
- Graf is leading the Ivy League in 3-pointers made per game with 2.4 per game.
- Yale leads the Ivy League in 3-pointers made per game (8.4) and defensive 3-point shooting percentage (25.6 percent).
- Yale is second in the Ivy League in 3-point shooting percentage (35.9 percent).
- Yale is third in the Ivy League in scoring (67.3 points per game), free-throw percentage (73.5 percent) and offensive rebounds (13.3 orpg.).
- The Bulldogs are 3-3 at home this season and 2-6 on the road.

Next Up
Following Saturday’s game, Yale will visit Brown in the second game of its Ivy League season. The Bulldogs and Bears close out their season series at 6 p.m. on Jan. 25 at Brown. Yale has won four of the last five meetings entering this season, but the teams split their series last season, with the road team winning both games.

Yale Owns OT

Sarah Halejian scored a team-high 17 points, including four of Yale's six points in overtime, to lead the Bulldogs to a 66-62 overtime win at St. Francis Brooklyn on Dec. 8. It was just the third overtime game for Yale in the eight seasons under head coach Chris Gobrecht. The only other overtime games coached by Gobrecht were a 70-66 double-overtime win at Dartmouth on Feb. 13, 2010, and a 77-73 overtime win over visiting Quinnipiac on Dec. 21, 2008. Yale is 6-0 in overtime games since the 2003-04 season. Halejian was the key to the win as 14 of her 17 points came after halftime. Janna Graf had 15 points and seven rebounds. The win was Yale's first on the road this season.

Welcome to Yale

Yale welcomes five new faces to the roster in 2012-13. Lauren Thomer replaces Allison Guth as an assistant coach and Yale's recruiting coordinator. Four players have also been added to the roster as freshmen for the 2012-13 season. Guards Whitney Wyckoff and Nyasha Sarju, forward Meredith Boardman, and center Emmy Allen, are all expected to play a big part in the Bulldogs’ plans this season. Allen, a 6-foot-3 center, was rated as the 27th top post player in the nation by ESPN last year. Boardman, a 6-foot-1 forward, was listed among the Chicago area's top 50 players by the Chicago Sun-Times and the Chicago Tribune. Sarju, a 6-foot-tall shooting guard from Seattle, Wash., was listed as the 56th best wing player in the nation by ESPN. Wyckoff, a 5-foot-9 guard from West Chester, Ohio, was averaging 12.0 points, 4.0 rebounds, 3.3 steals, 2.3 assists and 2.0 blocks per game through the first four games of the season at Lakota East High School before suffering a season-ending knee injury.

Sarju Spectacular

Yale’s best effort in its 87-71 season-opening loss on Nov. 9 at Holy Cross came from freshman Nyasha Sarju. In her collegiate debut, she showed a veteran presence, leading the Bulldogs with 18 points on 7-for-17 shooting and 4-for-8 from 3-point range, making her first game in a Yale uniform a memorable one.

Rookie Sensation

Sophomore guard Sarah Halejian made quite the first impression in her first season at Yale. Halejian became just the fourth Yale player to be named the Ivy League’s Rookie of the Year, joining Melissa Colborne (2006-07), Katy Grubbs, (1995-96) and Mary Kalich (1991-92). Halejian played in all 28 games for the Bulldogs with 22 starts, including starts in the final 20 games of the season. She averaged 8.1 points, 2.3 rebounds and 1.9 assists per game in her rookie season. Her best month of the season came in a seven-game stretch in January where she averaged 12.6 points, 2.4 rebounds and 2.4 assists, earning four consecutive Rookie of the Week honors in the month. She ended the season with six Ivy League Rookie of the Week awards, tying the Yale record for the most Rookie of the Week awards in a season by a single player.

Oh Captain, My Captain

Senior Allie Messimer takes over for Michelle Cashen ’12 as Yale’s captain for the 2012-13 season, the 35th captain in Yale’s 40 seasons. Messimer has served as one of Yale’s top reserves in her career. On the court, she is one of Yale’s top outside threats, leading the team in 3-point shooting percentage last season. Off the court, she has been a driving force behind Yale’s annual Pink Zone plans.
Introducing the Starting Lineup

Yale has used three different starting lineups this season, with seven players making at least one start.

Strength of Schedule

Yale's non-league schedule continues to offer tough tests in preparation for the Ivy League's 14-game stretch that closes out the season. Each season, Yale head coach Chris Gobrecht puts together a tough non-league slate to prepare her players for a run at the Ivy League championship, and this season's non-league schedule should test the Bulldogs right from the start. The schedule includes three games against teams from two of the toughest conferences in the nation. Yale will visit Chicago in November to take on Big East powerhouse DePaul and Big Ten force Northwestern. Big East power Georgetown is on the December schedule. In total, six of the 14 teams on the non-league schedule played in the postseason last season including Holy Cross and New Hampshire (Women's Basketball Invitational), Quinnipiac (WNIT) and DePaul, Georgetown and Sacred Heart (NCAA).

Picking on the Patriot

For the fifth straight season, Yale will face Patriot League foes Holy Cross, Army and Bucknell. In the previous four seasons, Yale was 9-3 against the Patriot trio. Yale went 3-0 last season against the three teams, beating Holy Cross and Army at home and scoring a road win at Bucknell. The Bulldogs went 2-1 against the trio in 2010-11, beating Holy Cross on the road and Bucknell at home, but losing at Army. Yale swept the three teams in 2009-10, but dropped two of three in 2008-09, gaining the lone win against Holy Cross.

Yale Tales and Tidbits

- Yale University, founded in 1701, is the third oldest college in the United States and one of the foremost research universities in the world. First known as the Collegiate School, it changed its name in 1718 to honor benefactor Elihu Yale.
- In 1889, Yale students adopted the first college mascot, Handsome Dan, a ferocious and enthusiastic fan at early football games. Handsome Dan inspired Cole Porter to write Yale’s famous fight song, “Bulldog, Bulldog.” Today, the original Handsome Dan continues his reign from the lobby of Payne Whitney Gymnasium. Yale students also adopted the first school colors (1853), fielded the first cheerleaders (1890) and developed the first school fight song (1892).
- Five U.S. Presidents have ties to Yale. William Howard Taft (1878), George H.W. Bush (1948) and George W. Bush (1968) all received their undergraduate degrees from Yale, while Gerald Ford (1941) and Bill Clinton (1973) are both graduates of Yale Law School.

Preseason Honors

College Sports Madness named Yale senior guard Megan Vasquez to its Preseason All-Ivy First Team in its Ivy League preseason preview last month. The Internet publication also named Yale junior forward Janna Graf to its Preseason All-Ivy Second Team.

* - Denotes Ivy League Game

Week 10 Action

The Ivy League season officially kicked off on Jan. 12 and the two teams at the top of the standings won their Ivy openers in convincing fashion, setting up what should be an exciting 14-game tournament. Princeton won its 25th-straight conference game, defeating Penn 77-47. The Tigers racked up 28 assists on 32 field goals. Harvard earned an 88-66 win over Dartmouth. Overall, it was a relatively quiet week for the Ivy League women's basketball teams, as seven squads combined to play eight games. Princeton went 2-0 on the week, thanks to its win over Penn and a victory over Navy, 70-50. The Quakers finished 1-1, defeating Morgan State, 79-73, before falling to the Tigers. Columbia and Brown combined to go 0-3 against the Patriot League, as the Lions fell to Lehigh, 83-66, and Lafayette, 49-47, while the Bears suffered an 83-66 setback to Holy Cross. Cornell picked up a 75-55 win over Division II school Daemen in its only game of the week.

Week 10 Awards

Harvard junior Christine Clark and Princeton junior Kristen Helmstetter share the Ivy League's Player of the Week honors. Clark posted 22 points in 26 minutes of play as Harvard defeated Dartmouth, 88-66. She shot 8-of-11 from the field en route to her second-straight 20-point effort. Helmstetter was a key figure in her team’s 2-0 week, averaging 13.0 points, 4.0 rebounds and 4.0 assists. Against Navy, Helmstetter posted 14 points and six rebounds. In the Tigers’ Ivy opener, Helmstetter shot 4-of-5 from the floor and hit all three of her three-pointers en route to 12 points. Dartmouth defeated Holy Cross.

“Inside Ivy League Basketball,” a weekly online radio show dedicated to Ivy League men's and women's basketball, returns for its second season in 2012-13. Hosted by Dan Loney and Brian Seltzer, the show takes an in-depth look at all the news and notes surrounding the Ivy League on and off the courts. Episodes will air on Mondays and Thursdays at 7 p.m. on BlogTalkRadio.com (blogtalkradio.com/insideivyleaguebasketball) with every episode available on-demand via BlogTalkRadio and IvyLeagueSports.com. Via Facebook (search Inside Ivy League Basketball) and Twitter (@insideivyhoops), fans and alumni can follow the show and get a chance to test their Ivy acumen with the ‘Trivia Talk’ segment. Check IvyLeagueSports.com in the coming days for this season's episode schedule and guest lineups.
