Hadley, Mass. - The Trinity Bantams are the top seed for the 2018 NESCAC Men’s Squash Championships for the 12th straight year. The NESCAC Championship is scheduled to begin on February 2 and will be played on the campus of Hamilton College. The Little Squash Center at Hamilton will serve as the host for all of the championship bracket matches, while Colgate’s Huntington Gymnasium will host select consolation matches on Saturday. The tournament, which runs through February 4, begins at 4:30 p.m. on Friday. The NESCAC Championship match is set for 3 p.m. on Sunday.

Trinity enters the NESCAC Championship with a perfect 11-0 record and has won seven of its matches by 9-0 scores. Trinity posted an 8-1 win over Bates in the championship match last season to claim its 11th straight NESCAC title.

The Bantams will face the winner of the first-round match between No. 8 Bowdoin and No. 9 Tufts. Trinity is 3-0 versus the Polar Bears in the NESCAC tournament series, and last faced Bowdoin in the 2015 quarterfinals. The Bantams and the Jumbos have never squared off in the NESCAC Championship.

Bowdoin is the eighth seed for the first time since 2014. The Polar Bears posted a 3-9 record in the regular season and earned a 6-3 win over Tufts on January 27. Tufts enters the tournament with a 6-8 record and is the ninth seed for the third straight season. The Jumbos are looking to advance to the quarterfinals for the first time since 2010. Bowdoin is 2-0 against the Jumbos in NESCAC Championship action. The two teams have not met since a 2014 first-round match, which the Polar Bears won, 9-0.

Bates, the No. 2 seed, has been the NESCAC Runner-Up the past two years. The Bobcats are the second seed for the second consecutive season and the fourth time overall. Bates enters the tournament with a 9-3 mark and has won four of its last five matches. The Bobcats are 11-0 against their opponents in the quarterfinal round.

Bates will take on the winner of the first-round match between No. 7 Hamilton and No. 10 Connecticut College. The Bobcats defeated Connecticut College, 9-0, in the season opening weekend and did not face Hamilton in the regular season. In the NESCAC Championship, Bates is 1-0 against Hamilton, winning 9-0 in the 2008 quarterfinals and has never faced the Camels in the tournament.

The Continentals, who are hosting the NESCAC Squash Championships for the first time since 2014, are the seventh seed for the fourth time and first since 2009. Hamilton owns a record of 5-8 and is looking to advance to the quarterfinals for the first time since 2013. The Camels are the No. 1 seed for the seventh time and first since 2015. Connecticut College enters the tournament with a record of 8-7 and has won four straight heading into the NESCAC Championship, including wins over Bard, Vassar and Lehigh by 9-0 scores. The Continentals are 6-0 against Connecticut College in the NESCAC Championship, including a 6-3 win in the consolation round robin last year.

Williams is the No. 3 seed in the NESCAC Championship and has been the NESCAC Runner-Up nine times. The Ephs, who are 11-0 in the quarterfinal round, will take on the winner of the first-round match between No. 6 Colby and No. 11 Wesleyan. Williams is 8-13 on the season and has won four of its last five matches heading into the tournament. The Ephs posted a pair of 8-1 road wins at Colby and at Wesleyan in January. Williams is 1-0 against both the Mules and the Cardinals in the NESCAC Championship. The Ephs defeated Colby, 9-0, in the 2016 quarterfinals and handed Wesleyan a 9-0 loss in the 2011 quarterfinals.

This year marks the first time Colby has been the No. 6 seed in the NESCAC Championship. The Mules own a record of 7-7 and are 2-2 in their last four matches, including a 9-0 win over Tufts in the last match of the regular season. Wesleyan enters the tournament with a 4-13 record and is the No. 11 seed for the first time since 2010. The Cardinals, who finished seventh last season, are looking to advance to the quarterfinals for the eighth straight year.

Colby earned an 8-1 win at Wesleyan in the second match of the year and is 4-4 against the Cardinals in the NESCAC tournament. The Mules posted a 6-3 win over the Cardinals in the quarterfinal consolation last year.

Rounding out the tournament field is a quarterfinal match between No. 4 Middlebury and No. 5 Amherst. The Panthers are the fourth seed for the second straight season and fourth time overall. Middlebury placed third last year and enters the tournament with a 5-7 mark. The Panthers are seeking their eighth trip to the semifinals. The Mammoths are the fifth seed for the first time since 2011 and the fourth time overall. Amherst owns a record of 7-7 and closed out the regular season winning three of its final four regular season matches. Amherst, which finished sixth last season, is looking to move to the semifinal round for the first time since 2009.

Middlebury swept Amherst, 9-0, in the regular season and owns a 3-1 advantage in the NESCAC Championship series. The Mammoths earned an 8-1 victory over the Panthers in the 2012 quarterfinals in the last meeting between the two teams.

Results for the NESCAC Men’s Squash Championship will be available at the end of each day at NESCAC.com.
Hamilton Set to Host NESCAC Women’s Squash Championship

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HADLEY, Mass. - The 11-time defending NESCAC Champion Trinity Bantams are the top seed for the 2018 NESCAC Squash Championship that get underway on February 2 on the campus of Hamilton College. The Little Squash Center at Hamilton will serve as the host for all of the championship bracket matches, while Colgate’s Huntington Gymnasium will host select consolation matches on Saturday. The tournament, which runs through February 4, begins at 4:30 p.m. on Friday. The NESCAC Championship match is set for 3 p.m. on Sunday.

Trinity is the top seed for the 12th consecutive season and is the only team to have won the NESCAC title. The Bantams enter the tournament with a 10-2 mark with their only losses to Princeton (5-4) and Harvard (8-1). Trinity swept Williams, 9-0, in the 2017 NESCAC Championship match to claim its 11th straight title.

The Bantams will face the winner of Friday’s first-round match between No. 8 Hamilton and No. 9 Colby. Trinity is 1-0 against Hamilton in NESCAC tournament play, having only faced the Continentals in the 2013 quarterfinals and coming away with a 9-0 victory. The Bantams and Mules have met four times in the NESCAC Championship with Trinity holding a 4-0 advantage in the series. Colby fell to Trinity, 9-0, in last year’s quarterfinal round.

Hamilton is hosting the NESCAC Championships for the first time since 2014. The Continentals enter the tournament with a 6-6 record and have won four of their last five matches, including an 8-1 victory at St. Lawrence on Monday. Hamilton is the No. 8 seed for the first time since 2013 and the second time overall. Colby is the ninth seed for the second straight year and seventh since 2007. The Mules enter the NESCAC Championships with a 7-9 mark. At the 2017 NESCAC Championship, Colby advanced to the quarterfinals with a 7-2 victory over Wesleyan before falling to Trinity, 9-0, and finishing seventh. Hamilton earned a 6-3 victory over Colby at Amherst in the regular season this year. However, the Mules own a 3-2 advantage over the Continentals in the NESCAC Championships, including a 7-2 victory in the seventh-place match in 2016.

Williams, a nine-time NESCAC Runner-Up, including last season, is the No. 2 seed for the fourth consecutive season and 10th time overall. The Ephs enter the tournament with an 11-9 record and have been impressive since the calendar turned, posting a 9-3 mark, which includes five victories by 9-0 scores. Williams will meet the winner of the first-round match between No. 7 Wesleyan and No. 10 Connecticut College, and will look to improve to 12-0 in quarterfinal matches in the NESCAC Championship. Williams is 2-0 against Wesleyan in the NESCAC Championship. The two teams last met in the 2013 quarterfinals with the Ephs earning an 8-1 victory. During the regular season, Williams posted an 8-1 win at Wesleyan, while the Ephs and Camels have never met in the NESCAC Championship and did not play each other in the regular season this year.

Wesleyan is the No. 7 seed for the first time since 2013 and matches the highest seed the Cardinals have earned in a NESCAC Championship. Wesleyan is 8-9 on the year, and looks to make a quarterfinal appearance for the first time since 2014. Connecticut College enters the tournament with a 7-8 record, and won three straight matches over Northeastern (7-2), Bard (9-0) and Vassar (5-4) to close out the regular season. The Camels are the No. 10 seed for the fourth time overall and first since 2013. Connecticut College is seeking its first trip to the quarterfinals. Wesleyan is 6-1 versus Connecticut College in the NESCAC Championship series, including a 6-3 victory over the Camels in the 2017 consolation round. The two teams faced each other twice in the regular season with the Cardinals posting a pair of 9-0 wins.

Middlebury is the No. 3 seed for the fourth year in a row and sixth time overall. The Panthers were the NESCAC Runner-Up in 2011 and placed fourth last season, falling to Bates, 5-4, in the third-place match. Middlebury enters the tournament with an 8-5 record and earned six of its eight wins in January. The Panthers will meet the winner of the first round match between No. 6 Bates and No. 11 Bowdoin in the quarterfinal round. Bates and Middlebury have played each other five times in the NESCAC Championship, including last year’s third-place match, and the Panthers own a 3-2 advantage in NESCAC tournament series. Bowdoin is 2-1 against Middlebury in the NESCAC Championship. The teams last met in the 2013 quarterfinals, with the Panthers coming away a 9-0 victory.

Bates is the sixth-seed for the first time and owns a 7-6 record. The Bobcats have won five of their last six matches heading into the NESCAC Championship. Bates defeated Bowdoin, 7-2, in the season opener and dropped a 5-4 decision to Middlebury in the regular season. The Bobcats advanced to the championship match in 2014 and placed third last year. Bowdoin, which is the No. 11 seed for the first time, enters the tournament with a 5-9 record. The Bobcats are 4-0 against the Polar Bears in the all-time series in NESCAC Championship play. Bates recorded a 6-3 win over Bowdoin in the fifth-place match in 2016, the last meeting between the two teams in the NESCAC Championship.

Rounding out the matchups for the 2018 NESCAC Championship is No. 4 Amherst versus No. 5 Tufts. The Mammoths, who finished fifth last season, are the fourth-seed for the second time in three years. Amherst owns a 9-4 mark and enters the tournament having won five of its last six matches, including three wins over Colby (8-1), Hamilton (9-0) and Wesleyan (7-2). Tufts earned its highest seed since 2007 at No. 5. The Jumbos are 11-4 overall and have won five of their last seven matches entering the tournament. Tufts has earned six wins by 9-0 scores this season and started the year with a 6-1 record. Tufts fell, 7-2, at Amherst in the season opener and is 0-4 against the Mammoths in the NESCAC Championship. The two teams last met in the tournament in 2012 with Amherst sweeping the Jumbos, 9-0, in the first round.

Results for the NESCAC Women’s Squash Championship will be available at the end of each day at NESCAC.com.

Founded in 1971, the New England Small College Athletic Conference (NESCAC) is a group of eleven highly selective liberal arts colleges and universities that share a similar philosophy for intercollegiate athletics. The Conference was created out of a concern for the direction of intercollegiate athletic programs, and remains committed to keeping a proper perspective on the role of sport in higher education.

The formation of NESCAC originated with an agreement among Amherst College, Bowdoin College, Wesleyan University and Williams College first drafted in 1955. Along with these four institutions, Bates College, Colby College, Hamilton College, Middlebury College, Trinity College and Tufts University are sustaining charter members. Connecticut College joined in 1982, bringing the Conference’s membership to its current total of 11 institutions.

NESCAC members believe intercollegiate athletic programs should operate in harmony with the educational mission of each institution. The Conference is committed to establishing common boundaries to keep athletics strong but in proportion to the overall academic mission of the member institutions. In pursuit of this mission, the Presidents of each NESCAC institution control intercollegiate athletic policy. Conference tenets are usually more restrictive than those of the NCAA Division III with regard to season length, number of contests and post-season competition.

NESCAC institutions also believe athletic teams should be representative of the entire student body. Thus, admissions and financial policies are consistent with the NCAA Division III policies that prohibit athletic scholarships and award financial aid solely on the basis of need.

In 1999, the NESCAC formally became a playing conference and now sponsors 27 conference championship sports (13 for men and 14 for women). Member schools offer extensive and broad based intercollegiate as well as club and intramural opportunities for both men and women. With member institutions sponsoring an average of nearly 30 varsity programs, NESCAC provides more than 7,500 opportunities for participation in intercollegiate competition at the Division III level. Teams and individuals have achieved great success on both a regional and national level. During the 2016-17 academic year, 60 teams participated in NCAA team championships. NESCAC student-athletes claimed 19 individual national championships and NESCAC teams won five national team championships.

The NESCAC and the NCAA promote good sportsmanship by student-athletes, coaches, and spectators. We request your cooperation by supporting the participants and officials in a positive manner. Profanity, racial, sexist, homophobic, or other derogatory comments, or other intimidating actions directed at officials, spectators, student-athletes, coaches or team representatives will not be tolerated and are grounds for removal from the site of competition. Also, the consumption of alcoholic beverages is prohibited at the site of competition.

The NESCAC Student-Athlete Advisory Committee is excited for you to be here. They want to remind you to...

- Represent with pride
- Be a positive influence
- Cheer for your team
- Keep it clean
- Know your role
- Have fun!
