Conducted by the University of Chicago Men’s Soccer Coaching Staff, the UChicago Soccer Prospect Camps are an excellent opportunity for rising sophomores, juniors and seniors to experience the mental and physical demands of college soccer.

The on-field activities are designed to replicate the daily training environment of current UChicago student-athletes. Additionally, off-field activities will help prepare participants for the college recruiting and admissions processes.

A campus tour and admissions discussion will educate participants about the curriculum, facilities and student body of the University of Chicago.

Additionally, the coaching staff will steer a comprehensive discussion of the recruitment process, clarify common college misconceptions and prepare campers for the big decision that lies ahead.
